

Dear Parents of Autistic Children:

At Love & Autism we believe that to truly understand and support your child, you have to listen to autistic voices. Because, let's face it, unless you are also autistic, you will never know what it is like. Have you ever stopped to learn from an autistic person?

Here are three things you as a parent can gain from listening to autistic voices:

A way to understand your child more

Discover strategies
that worked for others
on their path to
love...of themselves,
their lives, their
diagnosis and others.

Meet powerful role models for both you
and your child
