THINGS YOU CAN EXPECT FROM YOUR RDI CONSULTANT

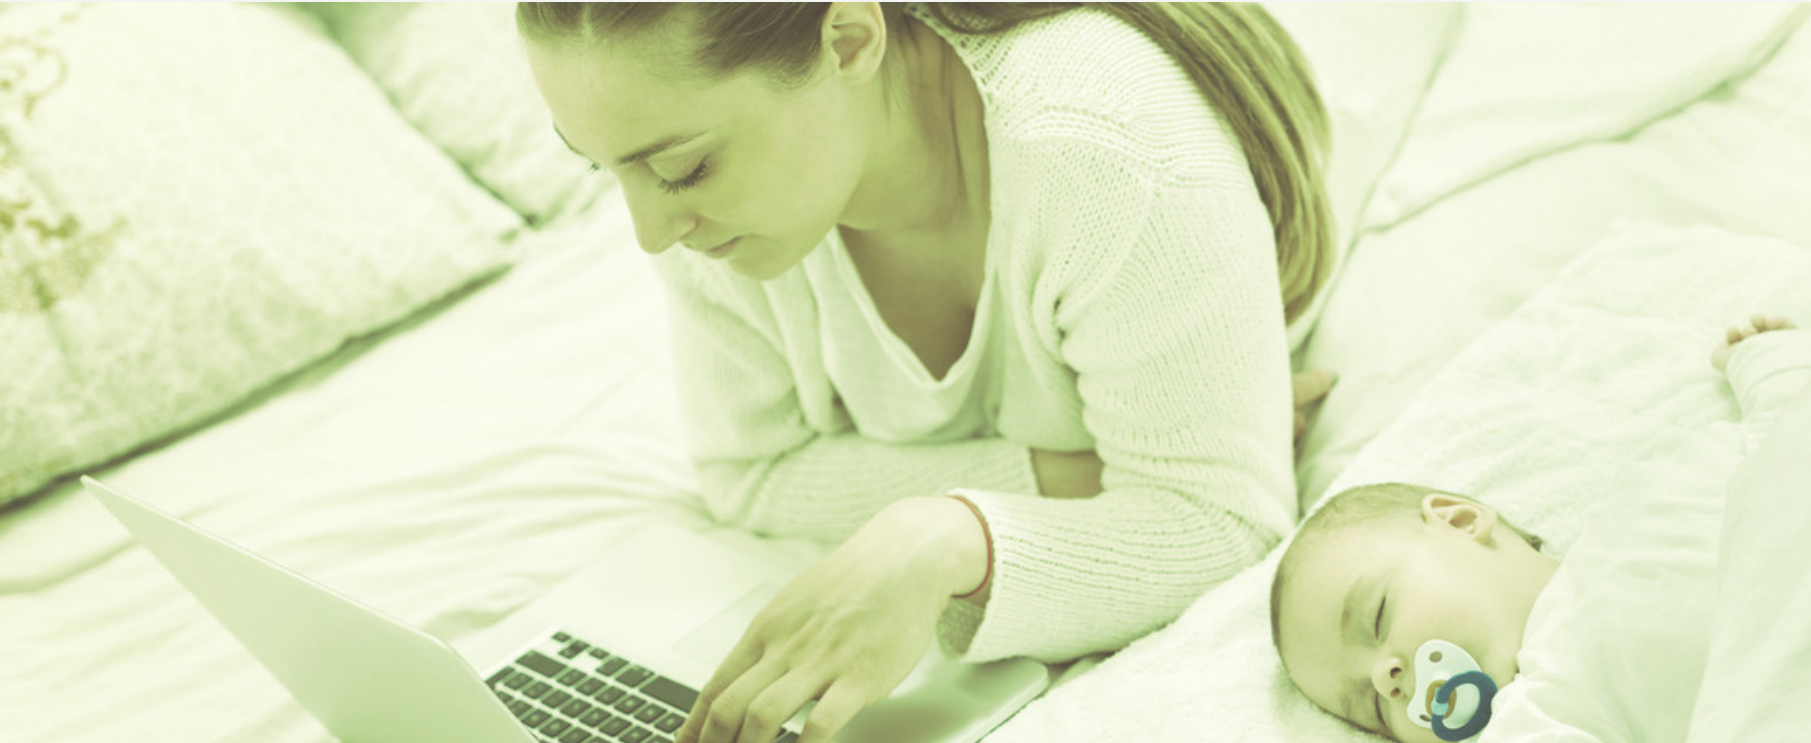

We will take the time to show you the scope of the program, making sure you are included every step of the way.

We use the most updated version of the RDI model, which relies on the most current research on autism and development.

We will personalize our consultation to your family's unique and individual needs.

We will give the power back to you as a parent, believing every step of the way that the parent is the most important force in their child's life.
